She is focusing on her pretty little girls versus her character dolls which she has focused on for years. Here are just a couple of the dolls for this years show!

All Lorna's pieces start out with a full skeletal armature. Some have a fully sculpted upper torso with poseable legs and others have poseable arms and legs.

Lorna offers a wide variety of skin tones, poses and expressions which seem to breathe life into her dolls. All her one-of-a-kinds have painted eyes and human hair. Lorna will be bringing at least three pieces to our show!

This is a rarity with so many artists here one day and gone the next and artists being solicited to mass produce their dolls.

Numerous museums throughout the world show her work. This year Anna has created a one-of-a-kind masterpiece especially for our 18th Annual Doll Show. Her one-of-a-kinds can take months to unveil so be sure not to miss this beauty!

JULIE FISCHER's Trunk Show of Marvelous One-of-a-Kind Children!

We are very pleased to welcome this Wisconsin native. Julie has been making dolls for as long as she can remember. She began sculpting in a combination of cernit and super sculpey as a teenager about twenty years ago; however, she had been relatively unknown until her first showing of work at a large doll show three years ago. Julie worked as a pre-school teacher for eight years prior. She is raising three children currently. She has many photos of children from the school which she works off of quite often but many times she just comes up with an idea.

All Julie's dolls have human or mohair and glass eyes!

We are thrilled to add this rising star to The Dollery line up of artists! Julie is sending a trunk show of mixed media, one-of-a-kinds made especially for our 18th Annual Doll Show in addition to those featured here!

Tom & Andre will be in attendance for the entire show.

Tom & Andre' appeared at their first US show here at the Dollery four years ago. They have proven that they were the rising stars we knew they were. Tom's artistic involvement began in the late 1980's and since 1995 the team have been producing between 4-6 one-of-a-kinds in wax and between 2-4 porcelains a year in small limited editions. We are honored that every year Tom & Andre' unveil their new line at our show. We are thrilled to have a one-of-a-kind little girl in wax sculpted just for The Dollery. This is a rare collectors' find as she is very reasonably priced. Many of their wax pieces sell for $8,000.00 and up! This year they also promised to bring a few more surprises including small limited edition children (Limited to 3 or under) in porcelain and possibly some lady dolls. Don't miss the one-of-a-kind being created in conjunction with Susan Snodgrass. We hope to have it for our show!
